Finding the Right Gift

Nessa wants to find a gift for her friend's housewarming party who has particular interests for her home. She's uncertain and unfamiliar with purchasing home décor but knows that she wants to stick within the interests of her friend.

The Indecisive Gift-Giver

"I want my gift to look good and be meaningful without breaking the bank"

	Awareness	Browse	Decision-Making		Purchase		Post-Purchase
Actions	User considers buying a housewarming gift but is cautious about what to get. They try to explore the internet, as well as social media to get some ideas.	They browse popular gift ideas in hopes to stay within their friend's interests. They come across Jade Deco's instagram page.	After clicking through to the company's site, they try their best to make sure the company is authentic, also ensuring that the product quality, and scent are well-reviewed.	Talks with a friend for their opinion, to see if they also like the product. Checks reviews once again to feel validated with their choice.	Looks through customer service and return policies; further checking whether the product is within their budget.	Feels reassured by policies that allow for returns.	Checks the product quality upon arrival; anticipates the recipient's reaction.	Feels excited to see the recipient's response and satisfaction.
Thoughts & Emotions	They want to consider other friends' ideas, while searching through the current trendiest gift that falls within their friend's interests.	"I'm not sure what to get there's a lot to choose from."	They look through posts that have the most engagement for fear of the lack of authenticity of the brand.	"Their items look nice, but is this brand authentic or not?"	Feels strongly about whether the product is worth the price and if the scent is nice, especially since they are unfamiliar with the brand.	"I hope the product looks as good as the pictures.."	"If I can't return the product, I might need to find something else."	"If they don't end up liking the gift, I guess I can return it for something else."	"The product has to look like what was advertised by the brand."	"My main priority is making sure that my friend likes the gift"
Pain Points	Overwhelmed by the idea of having to find a nice gift for their friend.	Uncertain if the brand is trustworthy due to the lack of presence.	Concerns about product authenticity; hesitant about making the right choice without an in-person evaluation; especially with an unheard of brand		Worries about what to do if the recipient doesn't like it as price sensitivity plays a factor in their purchase.		Anxiety over whether the gift will match online descriptions and meet recipient expectations.
Opportunities	Creating touchpoints for brand promotion to increase users' awareness about the products and story.	Creating brand awareness for customers through social media that is authentic in what they showcase to the userbase.			Make it easy for users to return or exchange products, especially for gift purchases to address concerns about price sensitivity.		Integrate customer reviews and testimonials, especially for gift items, to build confidence in purchase decisions.

neutral line